Change to the Claims Submission Period

As per INFOBulletins 220907

, the Ministry of Health (the ministry) is adjusting the claims submission period for OHIP fee-for-service insured and related services from six months to three months from the date a service is rendered in Ontario, effective April 1, 2023.

This change is outlined in the 2021-24 Physician Services Agreement.

The ministry is also implementing these claim submission timeframe adjustments for claim submissions from patients, other practitioners, community laboratories and independent health facilities.

This change will have no impact on claims for insured services rendered outside of the province of Ontario.

“W3” Explanatory Code

In order to assist providers during this transition, the explanatory code ‘W3-Service date is older than 3 months’ will appear on the Remittance Advice (RA). This will alert providers that a claim was submitted more than three months from the service date. This explanatory code will assist providers for planning purposes by allowing the tracking of submission timelines well in advance of the effective date of this change. Claims that receive the “W3” explanatory code will still be processed for payment.

Update to the Stale-Date Review Process

The ministry’s current process for reviewing stale-dated claims will also be updated to allow claims submitted within three months of the date of service that are rejected to a Claims Error Report to be corrected and resubmitted after the three month claims submission timeframe. Further information on the revised stale-date process will be communicated at a future date to assist providers with this transition.

Update to the Remittance Advice Inquiries Review Process

To further assist providers with this transition, the submission period for Remittance Advice Inquiries will also be changed from the current maximum of four months from the date of the RA, to seven months from the date of the RA.

Effective Date

These changes will be implemented effective April 1, 2023, for services rendered on or after April 1, 2023.
